How to view Incoming Messages

One can receive messages through a shortcode such as "23456" or via USSD such as " *789# ".
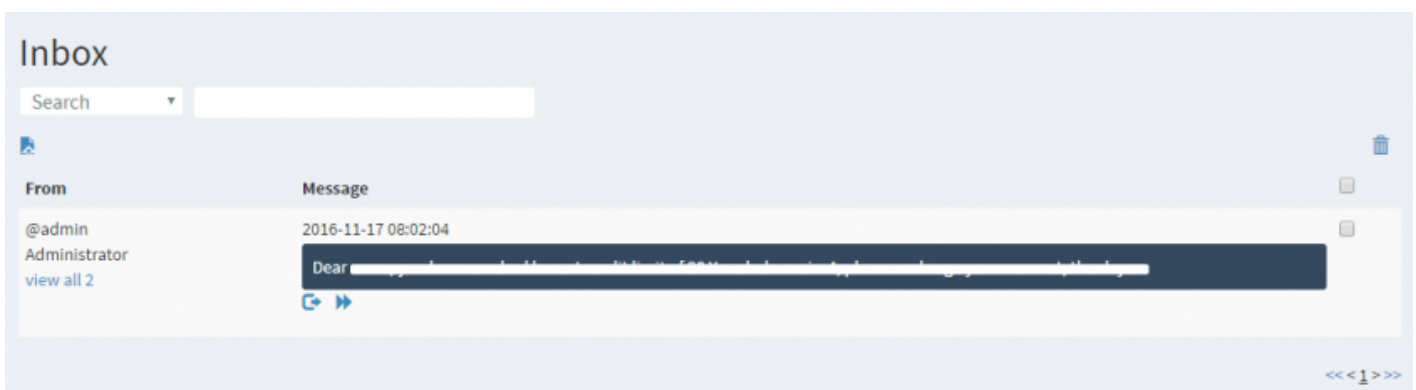

After the shortcode or USSD has been configured, one receives their incoming messages through their InfoPi accounts.

To view the incoming messages, login into your account.

On the main menu, click on messaging then inbox.

The incoming messages are listed as below:

Click the icon to reply to the message and the icon to forward the message.
